

A photograph of a row of multi-story apartment buildings in a city. The buildings are painted in various colors: yellow, light grey, and green. They have many windows with white frames and some have small balconies. The street in front is paved and there are some utility poles and wires visible.

A street view in the city of Łódź, showing a paved sidewalk, a road with a tram, and buildings in the background.

